Discover Wrecked Automobile Was Stolen From Lancaster

Dr. Paul R. Byerly, of That Place, Informs Local State Police Office of Theft, and Asks Arrest of Occupants.

Edward Heganer, 19, Injured Driver Of Wrecked Machine, Flees Hospital Despite His Condition Before Police Reach There.

That the automobile wrecked on the Lincoln Highway, two miles west of Gettysburg, early Sunday evening, was stolen several days before by Edward Heganer, 19, and Walter Hatz, 18, of Lancaster, who were injured when the car left the road, and mowed down twenty-five feet of fence and then turned over three times, was revealed on Monday afternoon when Dr. Paul R. Byerly, a Lancaster dentist, notified the State Police here that the machine belonged to him.

The local office of the State Police was asked by Dr. Byerly to place the two young men under arrest, pending his coming to Gettysburg. Before the State troopers reached the hospital, however, Heganer had left there in the face of opposition on the part of doctors and nurses, and against the advice of his father, Edward Heganer, Sr. Troop E headquarters of the State Police at Lancaster were notified, and watch for his return to that place was kept. Heganer was arrested some time later by one of the members of the force, and will be held under the charge of theft of Dr. Byerly's machine.

Hatz, the other youth, who suffered a broken leg in the spill, will be a patient at the hospital for several weeks. He will be arrested as soon as he is able to be moved, the State Police say.

Dr. Byerly, a friend of C. B. Dougherty, Hanover street, told the latter over the telephone on Monday afternoon that he expected to come to Gettysburg this afternoon to identify his automobile. The car was badly damaged and in addition leaking gasoline from the tank caught fire almost as soon as the machine came to a halt, and the cushions and top were completely consumed in the flames before they were extinguished by passing motorists who threw loose earth on the blaze.

Heganer, the driver, was unconscious when picked up and was bleeding profusely from numerous cuts. Hatz was conscious and apparently not as severely injured as the driver of the car. Both men were brought to the Warner Hospital here after Dr. G. H. Jordy, of Hanover, who was passing at the time of the accident, gave them first aid treatment.

Heganer did not regain consciousness until Monday morning. As soon as he came to, Heganer is said to have expressed a desire to leave the hospital. In view of his injuries and the apparent haziness of his mental condition, a result of the accident, he was advised to remain.

When Heganer's father arrived at the hospital, the young man again told authorities there that he was going to leave. He was advised to remain and his father joined with doctors and nurses there in an effort to deter him from his action. The young man was obstinate, however, and the elder Heganer was forced to sign the formal hospital release before the patient was removed.

According to the State Police, the machine was stolen from Dr. Byerly on July 6. Just where the youths went and whether they were en route back to Lancaster when the accident caused them to fall into the clutches of the police could not be learned.

Accounts of eyewitnesses of the accident are to the effect that the two young men were driving east on the Lincoln Highway at a high rate of speed. It has been estimated that the car was traveling between 40 and 45 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

Heganer, the eyewitnesses say, attempted to drive the car around another machine going in the same direction when he spied another automobile coming in the opposite direction. In order to avoid a head-on collision between the two machines, Heganer drove his car off the road. It shot across a ditch at the side of the road and began mowing down a fence before it turned turtle three times and finally came to a stop.

FARM WEATHER REPORT

For Eastern Pennsylvania: Unsettled, followed by generally fair Wednesday. No change in temperature. Gentle to moderate southwest and west winds.

WAR IS DECLARED UPON CROW TRIBE

Sportsmen Plan To Destroy Worst Enemy Of All Wild Life.

TAKE HEAVY YEAR'S TOLL

Crows, Hawks, Owls and Red Squirrels Kill Ten Times The Game All Gunners Combined May Take.

Hunters and sportsmen of Adams county, backed by evidence offered by game wardens and others throughout the State, are launching a move to shoot game-destroying animals and birds before they have an opportunity to cause destruction during the coming nesting and mating season.

It is planned to have every sportsman interested in game protection, spend some time ridding woods, field and marsh of predatory hawks, owls and crows, weasels and others who annually kill ten times as much game as all gunners combined. It has been stated that the red squirrel alone will kill 200 birds a season, while the great horned owl destroys annually covey after covey of quail. Special efforts are being made to enlist the aid of game lovers against the crow who is described as destroying individually more birds of all kinds, more birds' eggs and young poultry than any other bird that ever flapped a wing.

All game destroying animals and birds are classed by sportsmen and game lovers as vermin, and it is expected that vermin hunting clubs can be organized here and that members of established gun clubs will join in the movement by going into the woods and shooting as many game destroyers as they can find.

Convincing evidence of the destructive and rapacious habits of the common crow as an enemy of game and song birds has been collected by Dr. B. H. Warren, noted ornithologist of Pennsylvania, who during the past three weeks has been investigating wild life in the duck breeding grounds on the Virginia coast.

Dr. Warren spent two days in book. (Continued on Third Page)

MRS. LEAH G. WALTER

Mrs. Leah Gise Walter, wife of C. B. Walter, died at her home in McKnightstown this morning at 1 o'clock, after a year's illness of diabetes. She was aged 74 years, 1 month and 24 days.

Miss Walter's maiden name was Miss Leah Gise, and she was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Gise, of Butler township. On August 22, 1874, Miss Gise was married to Mr. Walter by the late Rev. Dr. Edward Breidenbaugh, of Gettysburg.

She is survived by her husband, one son, Otis Walter, of McKnightstown; one daughter, Mrs. Robert Shull, of Cashtown; one step-daughter, Mrs. Minnie Cluck, of McKnightstown; three step-sons, William Walter, of Chambersburg; John F. Walter, of Gettysburg; and David S. Walter, of Hills, Minnesota; one brother, Abram Gise, of Butler township and one half-brother, Adams Gise, of Shipensburg. Three grandchildren also survive.

Brief funeral services from her late home Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, with further services at Flohr's church at 2 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. E. J. Berkey, assisted by her former pastor, Rev. Dr. D. T. Koser, of Gettysburg. Interment in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Baumgartner, who was instantly killed on Monday morning when an iron pole he held came in contact with a high tension power line of the Cumberland Valley Light and Power Company at Gardners, will be held on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Charles Baumgartner, Orrtanna, conducted by the Rev. T. C. Hesson, pastor of the Arendtsville Reformed church. Interment will be made at McKnightstown. ROTARIANS HEAR CONVENTION WORK

Delegate H. T. Weaver Reports on St. Louis Meeting; Local Thespians Win Applause.

A report of the International Rotary convention held recently at St. Louis, by H. T. Weaver, dry goods store merchant, who represented Gettysburg, featured the weekly luncheon of the local Rotary Club at the Hoffman Hotel Monday evening. Among the many speakers of prominence at the convention, Mr. Weaver stated, were President Harding and Eddie Guest, the popular poet. Entertainment by Rotary clubs along the route of the special train which carried the delegates from the Harrisburg district was a highly pleasing feature of the trip, he said.

The Gettysburg club had another 100 per cent meeting, the twelfth in succession, it was reported by W. C. Tyson, chairman of the attendance committee.

Local talent provided part of the entertainment at the luncheon and the thespians received hearty applause following each recitation or musical number. Miss Helen Spangler sang a popular ragtime number, "Barney Google," in which she substituted the names of local Rotarians. She was accompanied on the piano by her sister, Miss Ruth Spangler, of the high school faculty. A recitation, "I can dance with anyone except my wife," by Fred Pfeffer, and other recitations together with instrumental music by Mr. Pfeffer and Sterling Bollinger were part of the program.

Dr. Frank H. Conner, of the Nevada, Iowa, Rotary Club, was a visitor and made a short address, as did also Ignatius Biorle, of the Frederick Club, a frequent visitor here.

KILLS BIG RATTLER

W. C. Tyson Wins Battle With Reptile Measuring Four Feet, Six Inches.

A giant rattlesnake for this section, measuring four feet, six inches, was killed Monday by W. C. Tyson, of Guernsey near Pine Grove furnace. If it carried 24 rattles, as is believed, the snake is a record one for this section.

Mr. Tyson, who was motoring through Pine Grove when Mrs. Tyson, had just stopped his machine on the Hunters Run road when they were warned of the presence of the reptile by its rattle. It darted away from the machine when Mr. Tyson got out, but turned on the slope of the wooded bank and prepared to defend itself. Mr. Tyson landed on it with a club before it could strike, and quickly dispatched it.

A. C. Givler, of Pine Grove, in reporting the incident, states that it was the largest specimen of its kind ever seen in that section. A careful search by Mr. Tyson before leaving Pine Grove failed to reveal its mate.

In killing the snake, Mr. Tyson says he knocked off a number of the rattles so that when he took the skin to Biglerville to be mounted by John Miller, taxidermist of that place, it had but nine rattles still attached. Mr. Miller, who has mounted a number of the skins, declares it is his belief that judging from the size of those rattles still remaining, the reptile must have carried 24 of them.

FEW HUCKSTERS OUT

Curb market was poorly attended by hucksters this morning, the reason for the few farmers being the extreme dry weather which is said to be leaving its effect on all fruits, berries and green stuffs. Buying was brisk and two hours after market opened, many of the farmers were "sold out." Peaches were plentiful, selling at 10 cents for a small basket. Eggs went to 25 cents a dozen. Prices of fruits and berries remained firm.

TO GIVE DEMONSTRATION

R. E. Underwood, Adams county farm agent, will conduct a wheat fumigation demonstration on the farm of John W. McIlhenry along the Harrisburg road, just north of Gettysburg, on Thursday afternoon, July 12, at 2 o'clock. Proper methods of using carbon-bisulphide to eradicate the angoumois moth will be demonstrated.

BOOSTERS' CLUB TO KEEP ACTIVE

Routs Rumors That It Will Now Die A Natural Death.

HAS FUNDS IN TREASURY

Will Spend Them to Advertise Gettysburg. Hopes to Bring Conventions Here.

Officials of the Boosters' Club after a three-hour conference on Monday unanimously decided to keep their organization permanent, operating as a wheel of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce. This action routs rumors to the effect that the Boosters' Club was formed primarily to stage the Sixtieth anniversary celebration of the Battle of Gettysburg, and then to die a natural death.

In connection with the Sixtieth anniversary celebration, officials of the Boosters' Club say they are satisfied with the results obtained. Exceptionally large crowds of people could not have been expected to come to Gettysburg in the middle of the week, they say.

Between $450 and $500 remains in the treasury of the Boosters' Club. Few funds were expended for the Sixtieth anniversary celebration, and all that remains will be put to work in the interests of the community, those at the head of the Club say.

Large signs calling the attention of the tourists to Gettysburg will be erected at important road intersections within the near future, as the result of action by the Boosters' Club. Howard C. Mittinger, secretary of the Club, and Clyde L. Bream, who acted as general supervisor of the Sixtieth anniversary jubilee, were appointed a committee to purchase the signs, secure ground concessions and have the boards erected.

Discussion was also held upon the advisability of keeping a regularly paid publicity man on the staff of the Club so as to have stories concerning Gettysburg broadcasted. No action was taken in this direction.

SEEK HOMES FOR C. E. DELEGATES

Christian Endeavorers Coming Here From Ten Counties Are Required to Pay Their Way.

Preparations are being completed for the first annual convention of the Harrisburg District of the Pennsylvania Christian Endeavor Union, comprising ten counties, which will be held in St. James Lutheran church, Gettysburg, July 26-28, it was announced today by C. C. Culp, president of the Adams county organization. A meeting of the general committee on arrangements will be held the latter part of this week or early next week to complete the program.

The entertainment committee, of which Miss Lou Etta Sharets is chairman, is busy canvassing the homes of Gettysburg to obtain lodging and breakfast for the visiting delegates to number at least 750. Already homes have been obtained for 350, it is stated.

The committee is anxious to get into communication with residents who are willing to take the delegates into their homes during the convention. The delegates will pay $1 for lodging each night and breakfast and they will be here two nights. They will be required to obtain the other two meals each day themselves. Persons willing to provide accommodations for the visitors are requested to get in touch with Miss Sharets or any of the other members of the committee at once. The committee comprises, besides the chairman, the following: Miss Mazie Everhart, Miss Beatrice Pfeffer, Mrs. John Wright, Mrs. William Wentz, Mrs. Refus Rings, Mrs. Ella Bupp, Miss Margaret Stewart and Theodore Geiman.

WILL TOUR BATTLEFIELD

As a side trip, delegates to the annual convention of the American Association of Cemetery Superintendents, to be held in Harrisburg during the week of August 20, will come to Gettysburg August 21 for a tour of the battlefield. One hundred automobiles are expected in the party. Delegates to the convention are coming from all parts of the United States and Canada. The tourists will bring their own caterers with them and luncheon will be served at the Cemetery Superintendents at Caledonia Park.

HIKED 50 MILES TO PIKE'S PEAK

Two Gettysburg College Boys Make Round Trip Walking Only Short Distance.

Luther Evans, 19 years old, a junior at Gettysburg College, and Clayton Moul, who graduated from here this year, have returned to their homes, near Menges Mills, from a hike to Pike's Peak, Colorado. The round trip was accomplished in eighteen days, and an account of it has just been made public.

Evans and Moul left Gettysburg, June 14. Immediately they were picked up by motorists and given a ride as far as Chambersburg. From Chambersburg they actually began the hike. After walking a distance of ten miles, kind-hearted motorists again gave them "a lift," this time as far as Indianapolis, Ind., by way of Cumberland, Md. At Cumberland, the motorists were generous enough to provide them with a chicken dinner.

Leaving Indianapolis on June 17, another motorist gave them a ride into St. Louis, Missouri, by way of Terre Haute, Indiana. Another lift in a machine brought the "hikers" to Wichita, Kansas. So far their actual hiking amounted to ten miles. In Wichita they met an Oklahoma cowpuncher motoring to the West. In his machine they completed the last lap of their journey to Denver. They were compelled to hike the distance from Denver to the Peak.

The climbing of the Peak was done by moonlight. The ascent began at 11 p. m. By 8 o'clock the following morning they had reached the top. They arrived in Denver just as President Harding, with his party, entered the city. After meeting the members of the President's party, they started on the return trip.

Before they had walked to the city limits of Denver, an eastward bound machine took them in and brought them to Timball, Nebraska, by way of Cheyenne, Wyoming. In Timball they met a ranchman who entertained them for a day. Their next lap in the "automobile hike" was to St. Louis. The distance between St. Louis and Gettysburg was accomplished with the assistance of still another kindhearted motorist and all that remained was the short walk from Gettysburg to their home near Menges Mills. This last lap they actually walked, arriving in Annville on July 2, eighteen days from the date they had left Gettysburg.

The total number of miles Evans and Moul really walked does not reach fifty miles. The cost of the trip to each was less than $50.

PREPARE FOR RACES

C. J. Greist, of York Springs, Expects Record Crowd at Matinee August 11.

C. J. Greist, owner of Greist Park at York Springs, was a Gettysburg visitor today and announced that he expects a record attendance at the next races on his track August 11. There is every indication, he states, that the program will be the best ever offered in the county.

The crowd, estimated at from 5,000 to 6,000, which attended the matinee on the Fourth of July at York Springs, is counted upon by Mr. Greist to return for the next big racing events augmented by hundreds of others from Adams, York, Dauphin and Cumberland counties.

HOPES FOR MONT ALTO SITE LOST

Government Decides To Establish Hospital For Veterans At Aspinwall.

SITE NEAR PITTSBURGH

Future Fate of Mountain Institution is Matter of Concern Here Due to Lack of Funds. Abandonment Feared.

Hopes that the government might take over the Mont Alto hospital for disabled veterans received their death blow on Monday when the announcement was made that the hospitalization board of the veterans' bureau has unanimously accepted the recommendations of Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, director of the bureau, that the government erect a general hospital on the Aspinwall site, near Pittsburgh. Here treatment will be given former service men of the world war.

Engineers will be sent at once to Aspinwall to make a survey of the property and to get plans for the new institution under way. The hospital will have a 250 bed capacity, and will be equipped with the needs of service men from all parts of Pennsylvania.

General Hines and a number of other officials of the veterans' bureau and of the American Legion visited the Mont Alto sanatorium in the course of their general tour of the State in an effort to find a suitable site for the location of a general government hospital.

Strong hopes were felt at that time that Mont Alto would be taken over by the government, especially so since it has been repeatedly stated that this State has not sufficient funds to long continue treatment of veterans at the mountain institution. As a consequence, much interest has been maintained during the course of the investigation, since much personal interest is taken by Adams county residents in the soldiers who are now stationed there. Fears that the place may be abandoned have been expressed in some quarters.

Ben F. Metz, of Pittsburgh, national liaison officer of the American Legion, was in Washington Monday and held a conference with General Hines after the meeting of the hospitalization board.

"No time will be lost in getting the Aspinwall hospital under way," said Mr. Metz Monday evening. (Continued on Second Page)

The field piece was located on the farm of the late William Kohler, about three miles southwest of New Oxford, standing in an open field. No traces of the perpetrators of the latest "outrage" were found.

Prices Show Irregular Trend At Opening.

Call money opened at 5½ per cent.

SEEK DRY DAVID FOR NEW GOLIATH

New York's Wet Called Head Of New Philistines By Speaker.

Des Moines, July 10.—Governor Al Smith was called the "Goliath of the wets" in the address of R. A. Walker, of Chicago, in the international Christian Endeavor convention here Monday.

"The wets are the Philistines of the present day," said Mr. Walker. "They have won a temporary victory and they have selected as their big blustering champion the governor of New York, who is heralded as their great leader, just as was Goliath, the defiant champion of the Philistines. He is challenging the dries to battle. The modern Philistines apparently have things going their way, and many of the dries are relatively in the same position as King Saul's forces, fearful of results."

"Have we dries so soon forgotten that the battle is the Lord's? Are we standing in fear of the results when we have God and truth on our side? Who is there among the wets that can stand against truth?"

"Let Goliath Smith beware. Somewhere in the ranks of the dries there is a David with mighty faith and a trusty sling. In the sling will be placed the stony votes that hit the Goliath between the eyes—whether that Goliath at the next election be Al Smith or some other champion of the wets. Whoever the Goliath of the modern Philistines may be, he will be politically dead after election—possibly after the presidential primaries."

"The wets are like frogs, they make a lot of noise, but their noise means nothing."

"Let the mighty Christian Endeavor host continue in their prayers and on election day use the sling and stone of their votes to kill the ambition of the wets to control this nation."

GIVE LAST TOUCH TO RUHR POLICY

British May Cause Permanent Break In The Entente.

IT MAY PROCEED ALONE

Baldwin and Curzon Will Make Announcement To Parliament. Closed Frontiers Weakening Resistance.

London, July 10.—The finishing touches on a policy toward reparations and the Ruhr, to be adopted by Britain and urged upon France and Belgium, were effected Monday at a meeting of the British cabinet.

Premier Baldwin and Foreign Minister Curzon will make public the policy in parliament this week, each in the house to which he belongs, Baldwin in commons and Curzon in lords.

The foreign secretary reported Monday to the cabinet on conversations he had had with French, Belgian and Italian ambassadors recently. It is believed that as a result of these Britain has decided to go on alone if necessary and settle the reparations problem in her own way.

France, according to announcement by President Millerand, declines definitely to abandon her present policy of coercion. Belgium is understood to be equally firm for pursuit of the Ruhr sanctions. Ambassadors of these two countries may be withdrawn from Berlin.

Britain has indicated, through speeches of various ministers, disapproval of this proposal, which was urged by Belgium after the Duisberg outrage in which twenty Belgian soldiers lost their lives.

Italy is aligned with neither France and Belgium nor England. Mussolini, who is expected here today, has a plan of his own involving discussion of war debts simultaneously with reparations.

The British policy upon which the cabinet worked Monday is likely to signalize a definite, possibly a permanent, break in the entente that won the war.

More Stringent Measures

Berlin, July 10.—Intensified sanctions, the Franco-Belgian answer to Germany's refusal to acknowledge responsibility for recent bombing outrages in the Ruhr, are reported to have begun throughout the occupied areas.

At Witten and Gladbeck military bands play the Belgian national anthem, while German citizens are forced to stand bareheaded. At Witten and Wetter German Red Cross nurses have been barred for a fortnight from visiting sufferers in the jails, because a prisoner escaped last week.

Resistance Is Weakening

Dusseldorf, July 1.—The German newspapers in the Ruhr declared Monday that the French intend keeping the frontiers closed even after July 15, named when the order was promulgated recently. The French admit that it is possible the order will be extended, as the closed frontiers have been considered very effective toward breaking down the German passive resistance.

The strict measures now in force, including the necessity for a visa for passing from occupied into unoccupied territory and vice versa, have provided the occupying forces with a great deal of power over the population. Such visas are given only in extreme cases.

TO SHOW DWARF PLANS

Chicago, July 10.—Embryonic airplane builders will have an opportunity to show their aptitude in fashioning airplanes at Chicago's first tournament for miniature plane models. Tentative dates for the affair have been set for August 17 and 18 with the approval of the Air Board of Chicago.

Five events are planned for the meet, which will be held in one of the city's largest parks. The first event will be for planes flying across 50-yard straight-away course. No limitation as to size or construction of the models will be placed.

A division for scale model planes, those fashioned after planes now in actual service in the army, navy or commercial aviation units, is listed. These miniatures will be judged for workmanship, design and performance.

Planes having a rubber band driving device will be entered in the third event. These will be hand launched and no restrictions as to size have been placed.

An event for planes fashioned entirely foreign to the present type of airplane is also on the program. There is also an event for power driven models. Prizes for the winner in each event will be given.

DEFEAT ATTACK ON COAL REPORT

Resolution To Investigate Charges Beaten By Mine Operators Conference.

Atlantic City, July 10.—Anthracite miners in conference with the mine operators at the Ambassador Hotel opened a surprise attack Monday by offering a resolution at the opening of the session calling for an investigation of the charges made in the drafting of the United States coal commission's report.

The resolution was presented by President Kennedy, of district No. 7, and contained excerpts from published accounts of statements made by George H. Cushing, former editor of the Black Diamond, a coal trade journal, which charged Attorney General Daugherty had ordered the report written after he had examined it.

S. D. Warriner, who heads the delegation of operators, arose when the resolution was presented and asked permission for the operators to confer in secret before any action was taken. The caucus lasted forty-five minutes, and when the conference was again called to order, Mr. Warriner said the mine owners would not vote for the resolution, as it "case reflection on the integrity and honor of the members of the coal commission."

"Cushing has no connection with the National Coal Association," Mr. Warriner said, "and, inasmuch as two members of the commission, Thomas R. Marshall, former vice president, and Dr. Charles B. Neil, former commissioner of labor, have denied the charge, we do not care to join in the resolution." Mr. Kennedy said published accounts Monday stated that Mr. Cushing had said he verified all his statements before making them.

The resolution was lost, as all motions are required to be unanimous before they can be carried.

Hines has assured me that the plans for the institution will be completed promptly and, once ready, the veterans' bureau will ask for bids to construct the plant. General Hines has managed to save about $400,000 from various projects, and this money will be used to start construction. The hospital, it is estimated, will cost around $600,000. Any additional funds needed will be appropriated at the next session of congress and it should not be many months before the institution will be ready to receive patients. We are delighted at the action of the board today. General Hines means business and will brook no delay in getting the work at Aspinwall started.

"American Legion officials are pleased with the manner in which the board upheld the recommendation of General Hines. The Aspinwall site is highly satisfactory to the former service men and we feel the veterans' bureau will hasten the work."

AUTO TRAVEL INCREASES

Tourists 14 Per Cent Greater Than Last Year.

Chicago, July 10.—There has been approximately fourteen per cent more travel by touring automobiles through the Central States, both east and west bound, during the first five months of this year than during the corresponding months of last year, according to statistics compiled by the Chicago Automobile Club.

During the first five months in 1923, 17,443 motorists registered at the Chicago club, as compared with 15,153 during the first five months of 1922.

The answers to the call of the road began in January, when 1,950 tourists registered. This was 50 per cent more than in 1922 when 1,308 tourists stopped at the club during January.

The travel continued heavy during February, when 1,276 registered as compared with 1,009 during February, 1922. The March figures were: 2,023 in 1923 and 1,594 in 1922. In April 3,916 registered as compared with 3,862 in April, 1922.

The increase jumped again in May when 8,268 tourists registered as compared with 7,380 in May, 1922.

COAST TO COAST FLIGHT STOPPED

Gas-Feed Stoppage Halts Effort Already Half Achieved.

BROKE PLANE IN LANDING

Flyer Was Attempting Flight From New York to San Francisco Between Dawn and Sunset of One Day.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 10.—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan, army aviator, who was forced to abandon his dawn-to-dusk New York-to-San Francisco flight near St. Joseph Monday, said Monday night another flight would be attempted within a week.

Lieutenant Maughan will fly back to New York Wednesday or Thursday of this week, he said, in the plane that was damaged in a forced landing at Avenue City, about nine miles north-east of St. Joseph.

The plane is undergoing repairs, and Maughan expressed belief it would be in condition by tonight.

A clog in the gas line of his engine caused Maughan's first trouble, he said. He was within five minutes' flight of the St. Joseph Municipal Air Field, fifteen miles away, when his engine went dead. Maughan dropped into a pasture, damaging his landing gear.

No extra parts will be needed, according to Maughan's two mechanics, who were in St. Joseph awaiting his coming. A welding machine was taken from St. Joseph Monday afternoon, and all repairs will be made on the spot.

Lieutenant Maughan estimated he made approximately 1330 miles in nine hours. He said he was lost in a fog for 250 miles. He feared he would swerve from his route, but hated to lose any time by slowing down. He made several trial flights, to go above or around the fog, but it seemed to envelop him completely.

Fog Caused Flier's Delay Dayton, O., July 10.—One hour and thirty-five minutes behind the schedule on which he was attempting to traverse the continent between dawn and sunset, Lieutenant Russel L. Maughan arrived at McCook Field here at 9:10 a. m. eastern standard time Monday morning.

Twenty-five minutes later his Curtiss pursuit plane again took to the air for his next stop, St. Joseph, Missouri, in an attempt to make up for lost time. He left at 9:35 a. m. eastern standard time.

Heavy fogs and a hazy atmosphere, which caused Lieutenant Maughan to lose his way, accounted for his falling behind schedule. The first point he actually recognized after leaving New York, he said, was Akron, Ohio, which was 100 miles off his course.

The loss of his course caused him to fly approximately 700 miles between Mitchell Field and Dayton, Lieutenant Maughan said, and taxed his gasoline supply, which he feared would be exhausted and force him down before he arrived here. His map route had called for only 570 miles. He left Mitchell Field Monday morning at 3:56 eastern standard time.

The plane maintained its scheduled rate of speed of 160 miles an hour, the pilot said, the additional distance accounting for the delay.

WILL "GAS" SNAKES

Texas Rattles To Be Victims Of Experiments.

San Antonio, Texas, July 10.—Poisonous gases will be used in the destruction of Texas rattlesnakes, according to present plans of the predatory animal bureau of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, assisted by the Chemical warfare service of the Eighth Army Corps Area. Major George M. Halloran, chemical warfare officer of the corps, will begin experiments soon to determine which gas is the most effective in killing snakes.

Phosgene generally is considered by the bureau to be among the most fatal to animals with respiratory systems and will be tried first. Other gases which may be used in the experiments are chlorine, which asphyxiates, and mustard gas, which sears or burns.

The preliminary tests will be conducted at Fort Sam Houston, under the plans.

"It is planned to ascertain through the summer which gas is most deadly to the rattlesnake, and when cold weather comes and the reptiles have gone to dens and hibernating places, to experiment on them en masse," said an announcement.

CUT MEXICO WAR FUND

Mexico City, July 10.—Pacification of the republic will make it possible for the department of war to reduce its budget about 20,000,000 pesos for the coming fiscal year, according to advance statements from that department.

Except for the operations of a few hill bandits, the country is completely at peace, it is declared. Another war department project is to reduce to two years the term of enlistment for cavalry recruits.

FRANCE TO EXTEND TRADE

Dunkirk, France, July 10.—The French government is about to send a vessel on a trip to South American ports loaded with an exhibit of French products. This business-builder is the former German steamer Elkab, but her name has been changed to La Belle France.

ing for crow victims on the islands in that region and found no less than 675 eggs of rail birds, green herons, killdeer, meadow larks, domestic chickens and wild black ducks and also egg remains of some few other small song birds on ground under trees in which were crows' nests.

"Under and near one pine tree," said Dr. Warren, "where a pair of crows had four young, nearly able to fly, we picked up 352 egg shells, mostly clapper rails. Under another nesting tree where a crow's nest had 4 eggs nearly ready to hatch, 67 empty shells of birds' eggs and a few chicken eggs were gathered. On the ground under the third crows' nest we found 153 egg shells. The balance of egg shells were found on meadows and under trees about the island where crows had eaten contents before their young were hatched. We also found under these crows' nests young rails' wings and other remains of several kinds of birds, adult and young."

The crow is generally regarded by naturalists and sportsmen as one of the most destructive robbers of birds in the country and his depredations occur chiefly during the nesting season when the young are helpless. As a result of the enormous damage caused by crows in the destruction of game and useful birds, movements have been started in several parts of the country to conduct a vigorous warfare against them. In some states there are already bounties on crows. Anti-Crow Clubs are being formed in localities everywhere throughout the country where the crow has become a pest. Dr. Warren, who has made extensive studies in bird life, believes that the crow is one of the worst of all destroyers and his conclusions have led him to denounce this predatory species in severe terms.

Game wardens in many sections of the country have already taken the lead in urging the sportsmen's association and individual sportsmen of their commonwealths to join in shooting crows as a method of protecting game and useful birds.

BOOSTERS' CLUB TO KEEP ACTIVE

purely as a tourist town, the Boosters' Club has gone one step farther and plans are now on foot to have a representative of the Club attend all State conventions with a view of having them come to Gettysburg for their gatherings. While the Club feels that Gettysburg cannot accommodate some of the larger conventions in the State, it can easily take care of many of the smaller ones.

Clyde L. Bream was delegated by the Club to attend the Pennsylvania Retail Clothiers Association convention to be held the week of July 16 at Williamsport, and to use his influence in bringing that convention to Gettysburg next year.

The Boosters also expect to use their influence in having State and Federal troops encamp here.

On November 19, this year, sixty years will have passed since President Lincoln delivered his immortal Gettysburg address at dedicatory exercises in connection with the opening of the National Cemetery here. The Club has taken action to call this anniversary date to the attention of the Pennsylvania Historical Society so that that organization may make plans to have it properly celebrated.

WAITING

John Solomon, Incognito
by H. Bedford Jones

"I believe that you have diagnosed the whole matter correctly," said the girl calmly. "Surely there must be some way of escape?"

Fortier nodded, drumming on the desk-top with his fingers.

"None. We haven't finished our diagnosis yet, however. Why is your uncle doing this? Let us say, to get control of Cypremont plantation. Then, for what reason? He is wealthy enough. At least, he is comfortably well off. Why does he want that island?"

Aline shook her head. "I do not know. He has never said that he wanted it."

"Of course. Is anything there of some great value?"

"The house and its contents, yes. Otherwise, nothing."

The eyes of Fortier searched her face.

"Pardon me, Miss Laverne—but has your cousin ever proposed marriage?"

The question brought no confusion to her eyes. She nodded quietly.

"Yes, several times. I do not care for him, however. You mean, that if I were to marry him, the whole thing would be solved? Yes, I understand. But that is entirely out of the question, Mr. Fortier."

"Good!" exclaimed Fortier. Her eyes widened.

"Why do you say that?"

Fortier laughed suddenly, boyishly. "Because I'm pleased, Miss Laverne! From what I have learned, I do not believe your cousin to be entirely honorable—to be the sort of man for whom you would care. So, for your sake, I'm pleased!"

Now, indeed, a slight tinge of color crept into the girl's cheeks.

"There is absolutely nothing to be done at present," pursued Fortier quickly. "But I would suggest that you write Philbrick, tell him that you have wakened to the truth, tell him all about your talks with me. If he is served with notice to irrigate the island, that will mean open war with your uncle."

"In the meantime, I would suggest no open break with the Macartys—at least, not until you get home again. Keep everything pleasant, if possible, at any price. I want to learn everything that I can about David Macarty, here in the city and about his son. Then I want to go down to Cypremont and make an investigation on the spot."

"To what end?" queried the girl.

"You say there is no hope—"

"No, no! I said there was no escape," Fortier laughed. "There is always hope, Miss Laverne! If I go down there, it will be fight. I tell you frankly, I see no chance of contesting matters with Macarty in a legal battle—as things now stand. Down there, on the ground, I may find many loopholes."

She regarded him steadily for a moment.

"Shall I give you a note to Philbrick, then?"

Fortier shook his head.

"Let us wait. I shall be busy here for several days in any case, and tier's lips curled whimsically. "Still, I can pay it."

"No, sir—I think he was a client."

"Impossible! Well, if he comes, bring him in."

Fortier returned to his desk, and forgot the new client.

His thoughts were of Aline Laverne. Everything in him revolted against the chance of that rare flower being stripped and plundered by the Macartys. Either plot or circumstances had placed her in their power; he could see no logical way of working out her salvation. Yet he knew that somehow, somewhere, he must find a way.

"And what's the motive?" he reflected, puzzled by this point. "They're spending a lot of time and money to work it adroitly—why? Merely to get hold of her plantation? I hardly think so. There must be something behind it all."

Miss Smith knocked and came into the office. She closed the door behind her.

"He's here again!" she exclaimed eagerly. "He has no card. His name is 'Mr. Fortier'."

PROHIBITION AS AN ISSUE

The President has stated emphatically that if either major party goes before the country next year on an anti-Volstead platform it will not be the Republican party. It is stated just as emphatically by those in a position at present to speak for the Democratic party that that party will not offer such a platform. It would seem that if protesting wets, therefore, demand the privilege of voting as they talk they will have to turn to some third party; and, oddly enough, the most discussed third party possibility is himself a dry.

It was shown in 1916, remarks the Cleveland Plain Dealer, that the electoral vote of New York is no longer necessary to win the presidency. New York and other eastern states are wet; Illinois and Wisconsin are, perhaps, wet. But the great west and the midwest and the northwest, where presidents are made in these days, are dry. President Harding knew his audience and conditions that will dominate the next national election when he told his listeners at Denver that so far as this administration is concerned, the 18th amendment and the legislation for its enforcement will be upheld to the limit.

As the president says, it is no longer a question of whether one believes in prohibition; it has come to be "an issue of whether the laws of this country can and will be enforced." It is a question whether America is to continue a country consecrated to law and order; whether majority rule, on which the nation is founded, is so to continue or whether any minority temporarily peeved shall be permitted to violate the majority will whenever it appears convenient to do so.

Americans by and large are behind the dry amendment. They obey it themselves and believe others should be compelled to obey it. In spite of what certain populous wet centers think and say about it there is no convincing evidence that dry sentiment is receding. The legislation passed by various states last winter indicates clearly a growing popular conviction of the economic soundness and moral helpfulness of prohibition. The incident of New York's repeal stands out conspicuously in part because it offers such a sharp contrast with what other states are doing.

It would be politically suicidal for any party which hopes to win the presidency next year to make itself tail to the anti-Volstead kite. The declaration of Mr. Harding at Denver on this subject is as good Democratic as Republican doctrine. The country remains dry, New York and its popular governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

THE NEW LITTLE GIMME

There's a new little Gimme at our house,

A new little Gimme who cries
 For the silvery moon or a rattle or spoon,

Or whatever is new to her eyes.
 Though she's helpless and small, her old dad understands

Just what she means when she holds out her hands.

There's new little Gimme at our house,

A new little wantier of things,
 Of ribbons and laces and bright jewel cases,

Of watches and brooches and rings.
 Though she's not one year old, in her feminine way

She knows how to get what she wants day by day.

Roadster Damaged

While returning to Hanover from Littlestown Sunday, Claude O. Meckley, Hanover, drove his sport car into a bank along the highway, when he turned short to enter the road leading to Sell's station in order to avoid colliding with another car coming up the hill toward him at that point. Mr. Meckley's small daughter was thrown out and suffered bruises, but fortunately was not otherwise hurt. A front axle of the automobile was bent and the right front fender smashed. The car was towed to Hanover by the Melhorn Buick Company and repairs made.

Motorist's Nose Broken

Edward O. Lippy, Midway, suffered a fracture of his nose in a motor accident Sunday. Mrs. Lippy, who was driving the car along the Littlestown road just beyond the covered bridge, is said to have lost control of the machine and the auto crashed into a fence. Mrs. Lippy was uninjured. The car was only slightly damaged.

Struck By Trolley

Mrs. Isaac D. Forry, Grangeville, was severely injured when, in crossing the street near her home on Saturday evening at about 9 o'clock, it is believed she became confused, stepped in front of a moving trolley car. She was caught and carried a distance of about 25 feet feet on the fender of the car. Mrs. Forry is confined to bed, but is thought not to be seriously injured. No bones were found to be broken.

Frederick

Power Plant Fails

About 30 or 40 Frederick industries, the power plants of which are operated by electricity, will be affected by a reduction of power due to the large turbo-generator at the Security Power Plant failing on Wednesday night about 9 o'clock. The cause of the trouble is unknown. In connection with the failure of the generator, the officials of the Potomac Public Service Company have issued a statement that the power facilities will be somewhat reduced and requesting that the consumers cooperate until the machinery is repaired.

Was Held For Auto Theft

Habeas corpus proceedings were instituted in Baltimore City Court before Judge Ambler recently to secure the release of William Notnagle, Frederick, who was being held without bail pending the outcome of an inquest into the cause of the death of Duncan de Beet, who was killed last week. Notnagle is charged with being responsible for death of de Beet, who was a street light inspector in Baltimore city. H. Walter Ganster, Baltimore, is attorney for Notnagle. After the hearing, bail was fixed and as soon as arranged Notnagle will be released. He is expected to return to Frederick. William F. Reynolds, Frederick, who was Notnagle's companion in Baltimore on Wednesday night, has been released on $500 bail as a State's witness. Other facts have been learned about the death of de Beet, which give Notnagle's friends reason to believe in his innocence. Their principal contention is that it was not Notnagle's car that killed the man, but that it was another car painted red, as is Notnagle's machine.

Franklin

Catch Run Runner

State police of the Chambersburg sub-station made another liquor haul recently, when they arrested a man giving the name of F. T. Wilson, of Wildwood, New Jersey, the sole occupant of a roadster which was found to contain about 134 quarts of liquor. The state police, in charge of Corporal McCarthy, were patrolling the Lincoln Highway, east of Chambersburg, when they saw the Wilson car "running heavy." The rear springs were tightly compressed. This condition aroused the suspicions of the officers and an investigation disclosed the liquor, packed in straw and wooden boxes. The car was taken to town and unloaded at the state police sub-station in the Trust Building. Several hundred people gathered around the car and somewhat handicapped the officers in their work. Wilson was placed in jail.

Town Has Fire Extinguishers

As a result of a canvass made in Marion by a committee composed of ten men of that place sixty two and a half gallon chemical fire extinguishers have been ordered and paid for and will be kept in the homes of that village. The members of the committee are H. H. Swartz, S. H. Manon, S. A. Gipe, C. E. Haulman, P. O. Crider, E. P. Burkholder, C. R. Grossman, D. Leslie Horst, J. F. Detweiler and H. E. Greenawalt. The committee will soon visit a number of small towns where street lights are installed, for the purpose of studying the equipment. Later this committee will meet representatives of the C. G. and W. Street Railway Company to make arrangements for the purchasing of electricity for street lights in Marion. A festival will be held in Marion on July 21 and 28, the money to be used for the lights.

Withholds Decision

Magistrate Miller in Chambersburg reserved for 10 days his decision in the case of Jacob Reichard, of near Black Gap, charged with carrying concealed deadly weapons and threatening to do bodily harm to Mrs. Charles Jamison, also of near Black Gap. Information in the case was made by Mrs. Jamison's husband.

J. Allan Dunn's splendid story of adventure and love

The Girl of Ghost Mountain

Beginning Wednesday, July 11th

Mary Burrows

Little did demure Mary Burrows imagine when she took up her home in the abandoned house on top of Ghost Mountain that she would become the centre of mysterious and terrifying happenings.

When her father died he left her an uncertain claim in the hills of Southern California, near the Mexican border, and there she went in the hope of regaining the land.

But outlaw rustlers, border boot-leggers, and Chinese tong men now held high carnival in the hills and terrorized all who dared to cross their path.

And gold---tons of it that had been hidden away in a cave together with the bodies of the victims from whom it had been stolen.

Ghost Mountain was really the last place where one would look for love, yet in spite of hate, murder, abduction and terror it was there, waiting until Mary Burrows and Peter Sheridan should meet.

And Hollister, the villain---but to tell more would spoil the story for you.

Old Daddy Time

Says "Baby's old enough now for a walker." And it's the promise of a happy day for the kiddie and the mother, too.

For—with one of these walkers—mother no longer frets about baby soiling his clothes on the floor or worries about him picking up pins and the like. A larger size bed should now also take the place of the out-grown crib

WARDS BATTLE IN SCORELESS TIE

Airtight Pitching of Armor and Hutchison Features Extra-Inning Game.

Brady Armor, former hurler for Gettysburg College, now one of the mainstays of the First Ward pitching staff, and Arthur Hutchison, the Third Ward's most effective threat, staged a scoreless extra-inning contest on the Playground diamond Monday evening, before one of the largest and most enthusiastic crowds so far this season.

Both Armor and Hutchison seemed evenly matched, the former having seven strikeouts to his credit, while the latter had five. Each allowed one free ticket to first in the six inning contest. Armor yielded four hits and Hutchison gave First Ward pikemen three.

And the crowd was baseball hungry. When the end of the fifth inning came around with gooseeggs chalked up against both sides, the fans cried for more and another session was tacked on. If daylight had not faded as it did, the crowd would no doubt have stayed to see the tussle indefinitely.

In most of the innings on both sides, the players were retired in 1-2-3 order and only on a few occasions did more than three batters face the mounds-men.

Twice during the fracas did First Ward have a runner on third base, while only one Third Ward sprinter got as far as the hot corner. Both First and Third Wards got a man as far as third base in their respective halves of the fifth inning, but the sides were retired letting the runners die on the home stretch.

Third Ward lost what looked like a sure chance to score in the fifth inning when Stover batted out of order. Yingling, the Third Ward's fast third sacker, had previously smacked one to left field for a single. Lischy up next was fanned, and then came Pitcher Hutchison's turn at bat. No one noticed the error until after Stover, Third Ward's lead off man, had smacked the sphere for what looked like two bases. Third Ward fans went wild until First Ward held up play and Stover was declared out by Umpire Rogers.

The airtight pitching, however, of Armor and Hutchison was the feature of that extra-inning contest and no doubt fans of the two wards will be on edge until the game is finally played off.
